Qualifications and Experience:

Dean Tong is a nationally noted author, forensic consultant, and expert witness, concentrating in the areas of divorce, child custody, abuse accusations, albeit, sexual or physical child abuse, domestic violence, et al, Parental Alienation, and Sexual Allegations In Divorce (SAID). Mr. Tong has tendered testimony as an expert witness in cognitive child developmental psychology and evidence-based best practices of forensic child interview methods, as well as the handling/mis-handling of child protective investigations by CPS and the Police including memory source monitoring et al, parental alienation/SAID, sexual interest risk assessment testing of the accused, and iatrogenic effects of de novo child sex abuse therapy. He has tendered/testified as an expert witness in court cases over 20 times from 17 states and testified as an expert in 15 states; in civil cases from W. Virginia, Tennessee (4 times), Kentucky, North Carolina, Rhode Island, California, Virginia (twice), Vermont, Florida, Kansas, Arizona and Pennsylvania (tendered only). And, he has testified as an expert witness in criminal cases from Georgia, Alabama (twice), Florida (4 times), Arizona, Iowa (twice), Idaho, California and New Hampshire (tendered only). He has testified as an expert witness in 15 of the 17 states above in the various areas of psychology and social science described above. He's been Court approved as an expert in indigent TPR/Criminal cases with the Office of the Public Defender in Florida, Florida JAC, South Dakota, West Virginia, Iowa, Alabama, Iowa, Arizona, Georgia, and approved by the Office of Public Defense Services in California. Courts have accepted Mr. Tong's testimony in the areas of cognitive child developmental psychology; best practices methodology of forensic child interviews of children allegedly abused on DVD, audio, and/or via transcript, signs and symptoms of sexually abused children; CPS/Police handling of child protective investigations; SAID (Sexual Allegations In Divorce), Parental Alienation (PA); de facto/de novo child psychotherapy at the pre-adjudication litigation stage in alleged child sex cases and Sexual Abuse Treatment Programs (SATP); risk assessment psycho-sexual interest testing of the accused, and child suggestibility/memory source monitoring/pseudo-memories.

He has consulted in protracted divorce, custody and abuse-related cases since 1995 and has been involved in the field of child sexual abuse accusations since 1984. Tong has been retained as a trial consultant or expert in court cases from all 50 states by parents and/or attorneys, and has worked with the Florida Legislature impacting the passage of 3 laws - the Spanking Bill; the Malicious False Child Abuse Statute (F.S. Ch. 39. 205(9)) and the repeal of the Florida Child Abuse Registry. Dean Tong, in addition to his work involving legal cases in family, juvenile, criminal, administrative appeals and state appellate courts, has testified as an expert witness in a criminal case pre-trial "taint hearing." Tong, a former licensed laboratory medical technologist and hematology specialist in hospitals and reference labs in facilities in Massachusetts, Florida and Georgia, worked in the medical field from 1976 - 2001. Dean Tong was admitted to Medical School in 1983 at the University of St. Lucia in the West Indies. Of significance to protective parents and mothers who have lost child custody or may lose child custody in the future due to alleged false allegations of abuse, parental alienation, or Muchausen Syndrome by Proxy (aka Pediatric Falsification Disorder) or Malingering, et al Mr. Tong has been retained to assist protective mothers and their attorneys in several of these cases, nationally, including cases where mothers are falsely accused of "coaching" their children to make allegations of sexual abuse against men and fathers.

Publications:

Dean Tong's third book Elusive Innocence: Survival Guide for the Falsely Accused (Huntington House, 2002) received peer-reviewed recognition in a professional journal – The American Journal of Family Therapy May/June issue 2006 published by Francis & Taylor Group (Routledge) in a scientific article titled Parentectomy in the Crossfire. Elusive Innocence obtained legal peer review, also, in the University of Florida's Levin College of Law publication titled Legal Alert (2002). And, Tong's work and web site were referenced and quoted in the 2006 anthology "Child Abuse" in Thomson and Gale's Current Controversies.

Dean Tong and his critically acclaimed work Elusive Innocence have received mention by Dr. Gordon Finley, Professor of Psychology at Florida International University in Miami, in the following article within the following Treatise: Finley, G.E. (2003). Father – Child Relationships Following Divorce. In J.R. Miller, R.M. Lerner, L.B. Schiamberg, & P.M. Anderson (Eds). Encyclopedia of Human Ecology, Volume 1: A –H. Santa Barbara: ABC-CLIO, pp. 291 – 293.

Dean Tong and his book Elusive Innocence have been referenced by William Eddy, Esq., LCSW in his 2003 published book "Splitting: Protecting Yourself While Divorcing a Borderline or Narcissist." Attorney Eddy says of Elusive Innocence on page 131 in Splitting – "This is an excellent book for those who have been falsely accused of child sexual abuse in divorce with many case references." Don't Blame ME, Daddy (Hampton Roads, 1992) was groundbreaking in that it was the first work in any commercial bookstore addressing false/unfounded child sexual abuse allegations issues within the dynamic of high-conflict divorces and child custody battles. Tong also contributed a Chapter titled Falsely Accused: From Victim to Victor published by Mithra Publishing, 2015 as well as a Chapter titled Find Your Calling Through a Horrific Memory: the Story of a Victim Turned Expert in the book The Ultimate Guide to Healing Your Past published by Frank Healy (2015). Tong is also Author of the paper – Pitfalls When Divorcing a BPD Spouse, and Creator of the taped series' – Sexual Allegations in the 90's and In Fear of Fathers. Dean Tong's work; and specifically his journal article and third book have been cited by many psychologists in their works.

Dean Tong is the author of a scientific peer reviewed journal article titled "The Penile Plethysmograph, Abel Assessment for Sexual Interest and MSI-II: Are They Speaking the Same Language?" published by Taylor and Francis in their May – June 2007 issue of The American Journal of Family Therapy. Tong's scientific study, which achieved statistical and clinical significance, is referenced by Gene Abel, M.D. at his web site here <http://abelscreening.com/research-development/>. On January 13, 2009 Tong's study and article was cited and quoted by the 7th Circuit Court of Appeals for Western Wisconsin in the case of The United States of America v. Bruce J. Rhodes (Case No. 07-3953) referencing the Penile Plethysmograph. The exact scientific citation for Tong's article is:
